American Sansei Finds A Unique Life Living And Working In Japan

By PEGGY NAGAE

In Herman Hesse's novel Siddhartha, I discovered these words: "I know it not only with my intellect, but with my eyes, with my heart, with my stomach". Reading these words — feeling their meaning, I realized that this thought at least partially explained how I feel about having lived and worked in Tokyo.

I now know about this Asian nation and its society from more than my college textbooks, television, and Time magazine. It has become a real feeling experience, not a simple exercise in descriptive words.

Thus, I fail dismally whenever I attempt to elucidate about Japan or the Japanese. I usually end up saying; "You must go there, live there, work there, to know the real Japan, the country of our ethnic heritage".

From getting on an unbelievably crowded rush hour train at Shinjuku station to visiting the serene Kiyomizu Temple in Kyoto, from listening to red-faced, intoxicated men on late night trains to seeing a spectacular performance of Kabuki, from gazing at the modernity of the Ginza to smelling the stench of open sewer's, the real everyday life of Japan slowly unfolds for the foreign inhabitant.

Life in Japan and in Japanese society cannot truly be experienced on a two-week tour; it takes time and a variety of encounters to even get past the surface formalities of being treated as a foreigner, a "gaijin" (the Japanese word for foreigner). And this first big step is not an easy task, for Japanese society is very close-knit and there are many traditional values and ideals that must be learned and respected, if not accepted.

I'm not very certain that I achieved this . . . at times my Japanese friends were candid and open, but at others I was definitely regarded as a gaijin.

My biggest handicap was the language. Regretfully, I spoke very little Japanese and more often than most conversations were an amusing mixture of broken Japanese and English. With this "technique" intimate conversation was not impossible, but it was difficult to talk about deep feelings.

My second handicap was not being a Japanese National. I am a third generation Japanese —

Kurosawa To Be Russia's First Foreign Film Director

By Leo Gruliow

MOSCOW. — Japanese director Akiro Kurosawa, known the world over for his film "Rashomon," leaves Moscow soon for a small town in the Soviet Far East where he will spend the next year shooting a Russian movie. It will be Kurosawa's 26th film and the Russians' first movie to be directed by a foreigner.

For this new movie Kurosawa, who has screened Shakespere and Dostoyevsky for Japanese audiences, chose a story by Vladimir Arsenyev, a Soviet ethnographer, explorer, and writer. He said the story, "Dersu Uzala," has fascinated him since he first read it 30 years ago.

The novel tells of the explorer's friendship with Dersu, a member of the Native Goldi (or Nanai) tribe in the Ussuri wilderness of the Far East. The explorer was attracted by Dersu's love of nature. Arsenyev took Dersu with him to the city of Khabarovsk, but the hunter, accustomed to the wilds, found city life intolerable. His eyes began to weaken. Finally Arsenyev sent him back to the forest, but, before doing so, presented him with a rifle equipped with a specially powerful sight to enable the hunter to survive despite his failing eyes. To get the valuable rifle, a criminal killed the aging Dersu.

"I want to stress Dersu's tender response to nature and the mutual respect which grew up between the two men out of their common feeling for animal and plant life," the director told newsmen here.

Russian writer Maxim Gorky once said that Arsenyev's books combined the gifts of the German zoologist Alfred Brehm and the American writer James Fenimore Cooper.

The film will be shot in the region where the ethnographer wrote the story — around a town that has been named for Arsenyev, 120 miles from Vladivostok. Wild Ussuri tigers, bears, and deer have been rounded up for scenes in the picture. Maxim Munzuk, a Far Eastern actor who is himself a Goldi, will play the title role. The other 16 actors were drawn from several Soviet cities.

"My only problem is that I don't know Russian, the language of the actois," Kurosawa said, but we are already establishing warm contact through interpreters." Kurosawa coauthored the script with Soviet writer Yuri Nagibin.

The one hotel in Arsenyev (population about 50,000) has been set aside for the cast. Japanese aides of Kurosawa said that the fishing was the chief amusement offered by the wilderness town and that they were bringing Japanese rods and line with them.

Kurosawa has had repeated difficulties in trying to finance ambitious films in Tokyo and Hollywood. Soviet motion-picture officials suggested that he collaborate with the Moscow film studios

Jpn. Police On The Lookout For Palestinian Frogmen

TOKYO. — Police are watching some major ports following unconfirmed information that Palestinian frogmen have sneaked into Japan, the national police agency said recently.

The Japanese national daily Yomiuri Shimbun reported that the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine had smuggled two frogmen into Japan to try to blow up an Israeli ship or ships anchored at the ports of Yokohama, near here, and Kobe, western Japan.

One of the two frogmen was believed to be Japanese, and the two were among 12 which the PFLP had sent to Europe and Asia the report said.

Mt. Fuji's Top Belongs To Shrine

TOKYO. — The Supreme Court ruled recently that the top of Japan's symbolic mountain, Mt. Fuji, belongs to a shrine there, ending a 26-year old dispute in which both the state and the shrine claimed ownership.

The court said the mountain's summit is necessary for religious activities of Sengen Shrine, which was built there more than 100 years ago.

Millions of people climb Mt. Fuji every year, and many of them consider the shrine an object of worship.

The summit land was state property before World War II. After the war, a new law specified that the state was to donate to the nation's shrines the land they ocupy, for use in their religious activities.

In Mt. Fuji's case, the state refused, saying it was acting in the public interest.

In the court dispute, the state argued that national sentiment did not permit private ownership of the top of Mt. Fuji.

"Jap" Acronym Dropped by U.S. Air Force

WASHINGTON. —A U.S. Air Force division has dropped the use of the acronym "Jap" in its reports, Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R.-Hawaii, announced recently.

Fong, of Chinese ancestry, had requested the Air Force not to use the term, saying it was unacceptable to Americans of Japanese extraction.

A spokesman for the Air Force said the Judge Advocate Procurement division, which looks at contracts for legal sufficiency, was the only division to use the abbreviation.

The symbol "Jan" will replace "Jap," he said.

Sen. Inouye Doubts Nixon Lose Presidency Even If Impeachment

HONOLULU. — U.S. Sen. Daniel K. Inouye said in Kahului, Maui, April 20, that President Nixon has "some justification" in believing that he will not be be forced out of office.

He did not elaborate.

At a meeting with newsmen, Inouye also said that he does not think Nixon will resign. "I base this on my understanding of political activity," he said.

"I am convinced that men and women who seek public office have a special kind of ego, and I think the President of the United States has a very special kind of ego.

"I am certain our President, like all his predecessors, would want history to record that his administration was a good one, a just one, and a successful one.

"If he were to resign at this stage, I believe historians would record his administration to be an unsuccessful one.

"Therefore, I think President Nixon would want to be given the opportunity to make his record. He still has more than two years left and I believe he has some justification to feel at this time that, even if the House adopts the articles of impeachment, the Senate would not find him guilty of those charges."

He told Kahului Lion Club members, "I have not decided on the guilt or innocence of our President."

Inouye, who is a member of the Senate's Watergate committee, said he is not convinced that the President was criminally involved in the scandal.

"The Watergate investigation committee was not a criminal investigation," he said. "We just wanted to see what the irregularities were and determine whether, legislatively, we could prevent future irregularities.

He said that if Nixon is impeached, it will be "the first impeachment of a President."

He said the impeachment of Andrey Johnson, the first post-Civil War president, doesn't count, because it obviously was the intent on the part of northern interests to crush the South".

"It was a pure and simple attempt at vengeance," he said. "It was a purely kangaroo type of court."

He said Nixon's case is "different".

"It evolved after a long process and I only hope that whatever decision is reached, it is a fair and just one. Otherwise, the effect it might have on the future of the country will be a dangerous one."

He said that if the Senate's verdict is an unfair one, the people "will react."

Asia's Tallest Fastest Elevators

The Shinjuku Sumitomo Building is a 52-story structure 620 feet high, located about five miles southwest of here. The 36 elevators are claimed to travel 19 miles an hour.

Police Apologize For Bad Radar

TOKYO. — Embarrassed police in Niigata prefecture asked a manufacturer to readjust all their radar sets to detect speeding motorists.

Ten drivers caught in a radar speed trap recently at Kameda protested they had not been exceeding the 37.5 miles an hour speed limit.

Test of the machine on a police car showed the radar was adding 6.25 mph to the speed of every car it tracked.

Police withdrew the citations and issued an apology.

but I'm a Japanese American and that hyphenated identity produced many dissimilar views.

Japanese people sometimes said "You look so Japanese, but your character is so un-Japanese ". And that, I feel, was a pretty lucid observation. I didn't grow up on an Island nation enveloped in hundreds of years of tradition. I read about concepts like "giri" that are so prevalent in Japanese society, but I didn't grow up within such a tight social web of obligation and reciprocity. Of course the Japanese American culture has somewhat similar values — but in Japan I clearly felt their unsurmountable unchangeable years of traditional culture.

My Japanese friends and I might look alike, but to a large extent that is where similarities ended and differences began.

Again and again I realized that I was different because I had been born and raised in the United States. I realized that I was, indeed, a Japanese American and both sides of that hyphen were essential to my identity.

Japan was a truly unique education for me. I learned how to live and survive in a foreign country. I also learned and lived within the country I had studied about so much. But perhaps even more fundamentally I was able to learn about myself and my personal identity. Because of this I feel Japan can be an education for all Japanese Americans, particularly for the Sansei and Yonsei who could go and live there for an extended period.

But, again, these are only words — my personal observations and beliefs — my suggestions is for you to go and if possible to live there, to be a part of that unique word. You, too, will know Japan not only with your intellect, but like Siddhartha said with your eyes, your heart, your stomach.

Button Advocate Blames Pants Costs To Zipper Conspiracy

TOKYO. — Shiro Yamada has uncovered what he describes as a conspiracy against buttons — in favor of zippers.

An ordinary Japanese male, Yamada wrote an indignant letter the other day to a Tokyo newspaper in which he said:

"Though I certainly don't want to be suspcious of others, various proofs shown recently of enterprise of bad nature urge me to suppose that a conspiracy was made among zipper makers, trouser makers, and wholesalers in order to make gentle male sheep pay more for trousers."

Tadao Yoshida, small, neat and with close-cropped hair, is the man Shiro Yamada should see. He is president of the YKK Zipper Co. which in 1974 will turn out 500,000 miles of zippers, enough to stretch to the moon and back.

YKK — it means, Yoshida Industrial Corporation — covers 9 per cent of the Japanese and 25 per cent of the world's markets with exports to 125 countries.

Yoshida began manufacturing zippers in 1934 with a capital of about $170 and three helpers on a 32-square foot factory site.

Today, he employes 12,000 people and his five worksites sprawl over 250 acres of building space, turning out not only zippers but aluminium sashes and doors.

What makes YKK of more than passing interest is that it is an integrated production system, controlling the press from the raw material stage to the final product made on machines built and designed within the industry.

Additionally, YKK is remarkably free from labor strife — it has had only two strikes in its existence — largely because the employees share in its operations, through voluntary deposits in YKK's own banking system which yields 8 per cent a year and in its profits as well.

Another thing which makes YKK workers happier than most is a generous salary program. Beginners start at considerably more than those in other industries, about $155 monthly for junior high grads and about $1[illegible] for senior high grads and about $202 for university products. The average wage is about $505 a month.

Yoshida faced this year's "shunto" or spring wage offensive, calmly. While other employers were resisting organized labor's campaign to wrest 30 per cent monthly pay hikes to counter inflation, he quietly already has handed out raises of 27 to 28 per cent.

This does not include five months annual bonus.

"If other business people would follow our example, the economy as a whole would improve tremendously," he said.

Overseas, YKK has a few problems, he says, because the branches are relatively autonomous, share their profits with employees, and are sot up as joint ventures with 50-50 ownership in countries where the Japanese image is particularly blurred. These include Indonesia, Australia, New Zealand, Singapore, Costa Rica, and San Salvador.

Labor and management committees in the overseas branches work out wage policies without interference from the home office.

"When we send our people abroad, I always tell them to respect the culture, tradition and customs of the country in which they live and become its good citizens," he said.

He is a disciple, he says, of the late United States steelmaker Andrew Carnegie and his "Cycle of Goodness." "Unless you render profit or goodness to others, you cannot prosper," said Yoshida.

Thank to this policy, he says, he has difficulty remembering when his last employee quit.

Japanese Women Still Changing

TOKYO. — When it comes to international romance, Tokuji Sugaya considers himself an expert, and these days he is declaring that "the American myth is over."

He says Japan's rising wealth means that "Japanese girls no longer are anixous to marry Americans" just because the foreigners have plenty of money.

Sugaya runs a small bar in western Tokyo, where he spends much of his time counseling women about their romantic affairs and translating their love letters into English or French. The job gives him an inside look at the romantic life of many Japanese women.

He says that many of the Japanese girls, while not wanting to marry, a foreigner, want to keep in touch romantically with men living overseas. The girls mostly are out to have a good time as they are increasingly liberated from traditional standards, he adds.

"One of the reasons Japanese girls chase Americans is foreign travel," he says.

"Japanese girls have enough money now to pay for overseas trips." And when they arrive in some foreign city they like to have a man there to show them around, Sugaya says.

Incomes in Japan have been going up by more than 10 per cent annually in the last decade, and Japan's per capita gross national product equals about $3000.

Many young office workers or sales clerks in department stores make the equivalent of $50-75 a week. Often those comparatively unskilled workers have a surprising amount of money for traveling and the like since they frequently live in low-cost company dormitories or at home with their parents.

Sugaya is a small solid-appearing man of 65 who began his love letter translation service after World War II in the Shibuya area of Tokyo. He is still working in the same area selling sake to some regular customers who visit his bar and translating the letters of others.

His standard fee for one page of Japanese is about $2.80 and he says several women come in each day with letters. He learned French and English in language school before the war, he says.

The idea of reading other people's love letters may seem interesting. But he says that all too often the letters deal with such everyday matters as the weather, headaches, shopping and believe it or not — false teeth.

But some letters radiate the impatience of separated lovers.

For instance, an American writing to his Japanese girl friend started with: "Dearest M, remember we talked about how soon our years would pass. However, it has only been 11 days and I miss you. . .

Many Infants In Japan Abandoned In Coin Lockers

By STEVE WILSON

TOKYO. — The steel coin-operated lockers at railway and bus stations in Japan are turning into temporary coffins for an increasing number of infants who are left in them by their mothers or fathers.

The lockers are supposed to hold travelers' luggage. But 14 infants have been discovered in their lockers around Japan in the first three months of this year, left there by parents unwilling or unable to care for their new child.

Last year 45 infant corpses were found in the lockers, compared to only eight in 1972 and three in 1971. But if the rate for the January-March period of this year keeps up, about 90 babies will be left in lockers in 1974, authorities estimated and there does not seem to be any clear pattern as to why Japanese parents abandon or kill their new-born children.

Generally, the Japanese love kids and abortions are easy to get for women who don't want the responsibilities of a baby.

About 180 to 200 infants under one-year old are murdered in Japan in the average year and this number seems to be holding fairly steady.

But the faddish Japanese have discovered that the convenient coin locker is an ideal place for them to put an infant they don't want.

Apparently it doesn't occur to them to leave the infant at a hospital or adoption agency, or these parents have already killed their child before abandoning and just want a hiding place.

"It's not clear how many children die after they have been put in the lockers" (and how many are dead before then), says a police source. But he estimates that a number of babies slowly starve or freeze to death in the locked containers while passerbys are only a couple of feet away.

Before the modern era, Japanese farmers used to leave their infant daughters on mountain slopes to die if the crops were bad and food scarce. And in the big cities earlier years poor parents of a new-born child might leave it on a street corner or doorstep where it stood a good chance of being found.

But police say the habit of putting the infant into a coin locker just about assures that it will die. The baby's crying cannot be heard amid the hubbub of a station and normally the lockers are only checked by attendants every few days.

In the past, infants often were abandoned with the best clothes or blankets the family had. There might even be a note asking the finder to take good care of it, according to some welfare organizations.

But most of the mothers or fathers putting their child into a coin locker carry it into a station in a paper bag. And they nearly always drop a coin in the slot and pull out the key, insuring that the baby is locked in and will die if it is still alive.

The only baby to be found alive in three years since the "coin locker baby" trend developed was discovered a couple of weeks ago in Osaka. The mother had not locked it in because she hoped someone would find her boy before he died.

A few hours later, a 69-year old museum official discovered the baby in a plastic bag when he went to put his own luggage in the locker.

The infant's mother and father, who worked as a plasterer, later went to the police. They said they abandoned the baby because they already had two children and didn't want to take care of a third.

Life is still hard in Japan anm most people live in terribly cramped quarters. But some present studies indicate that only abut 20 per cent of Japan's infanticides are due to the economic causes. The rest are due to the parents emotional problems or to their simple unwillingness to care for the child.

Young unmarried women are involved in a number of the cases, and in many others the husband has walked out on his wife and there is a feeling that many of the women who abandon their newly born child either did not have the money for an abortion or did not know how to get one.

About 730,000 legal abortions were performed in Japan last year. This means at least 2½ per cent of the 29½ million women between 15 and 40 years old had an abortion.

They generally cost between 25,000 and 30,000 yen ($90-107).

Jpnz. Woman Breaks Record

BOSTON, Mass. — Michiko Suwa Gorman, 38, Los Angeles crossed the finish line of the 78th Boston Marathon April 15 in 2 hours 47 min. 11 sec., besting a woman's division record by almost 12 minutes. The Fukuoka - born housewife, who finished 279th among all competitors, weighs only 86 pounds and picked up jogging in 1970 when her husband, Mike, joined the L.A. Athletic Club to play handball.

Mrs. Gorman came to the U.S. in 1964 and attended Carlisle College. She trained under Lazlo Tabori of Hungary, third man to break the four-minute mile barrier.

She looks forward to being invited to run in the Fukuoka International Marathon in December. No woman has ever been invited.

"Guts" Ishimatsu Wins Lightweight Boxing Title

TOKYO. — Japanese pro boxing is on the upgrade again with Guts Ishimatsu scoring a sensational eight-round knockout win over Mexico's Rodolfo Gonzales on April 11 to capture the WBC lightweight diadem.

Ishimatsu's victory in the slam-bang contest held in Tokyo was the second by a Japanese challenger in the world title fight this year. The 25-year-old fighter who formerly campaigned as Ishimatsu Suzuki achieved success in his third bid for a world lightweight crown.

Previously, in late February, Kuniaki Shibata gained the decision over WBC junior lightweight champion Ricardo Arrendodo of Mexico to take over the championship. The title was the third in Shibata's pro career. He had formerly held the WBC feather crown and the WBA junior lightweight championship now possessed by Ben Villaflor of the Philippines.

In mid-March, Apollo Yoshio drew with Villaflor in their title bout in Japan. It was a doubtful verdict that fortunately did not deprive Villaflor of his junior lightweight championship. However, it kept the Japanese unbeaten streak in world title clashes intact.

Wajima made a successful defense — his sixth — in early February by turning back Brazil's Miguel de Oliveria. The ex-truck driver is to make his next defense against Oscar Alvarado of the U.S. in June.

New hopes for a Japanese heavyweight contender have been aroused with the appearance of an 18-year-old rookie boxer named Akira Saito on the scene.

Saito, who is slightly over 6 feet tall and around 180 pounds at present will be leaving in June for the United States to get training from Dick Sadler, manager of world heavy king George Foreman.

According to the Hochi Shimbun, Saito came under the wing of the Max Boxing Group in Japan early in March. He reportedly decided to turn boxer after seeing Muhammad Ali in action in a televised fight.

The youngsters, who sought out Muneo Mizoguchi of the Max organization, says he hopes to gain the top 10 in world rankings inside of six years.

According to Mizoguchi, the boy was a fine volleyball player in junior high school. So apparently he is not big and clumsy.

Japan has no boxing division above middleweight at present. Back in the mid-1950s, however, the country briefly had a heavyweight division. On May 4, 1957, two made-over sumo wrestlers battled for the heavyweight title. Noboru Kataoka won by a decision over Yutaka Nakagoshi to become the first and only national heavyweight boxing champ.

Neither fighter, however, packed a punch. And without any new heavies making their appearance, Japan's heavyweight division mercifully died out.

There had been reports off and on of searches being made for heavyweight boxing material in Japan but big boys with athletic talent shied away, preferring to play baseball or perhaps become sumo men.

With the appearance of Saito, however, a new era of bigger boxers appears in the offing, according to the Hochi Shimbun.

佐藤愛子

「お母さん、なんでそうワイワイいうの？ いいじゃないのよ。ホストになったくらい……あたしはね むしろコミュニストのくせに自民黨の選擧運動のアルバイトに行ってる連中なんかより ずっとスッキリしてると思うわ」

夏子はいった。

「あたしはね、チー大生の兄貴がホストになったということに、むしろ兄貴の反逆精神を見るわね。反逆こそは若者の特權なりだわ！ それを兄貴は兄貴のやり方でやってる」

とゲンコツで宙を突く。

朝子は誰もいない茶の間のコタツの中で、ひとりポツリとつぶやいてみた。反逆といえば、朝子だって反逆を志した。反逆を志して第一歩を踏み出した。と、このザマだ。反逆同盟を結んだヒロエが、こともあろうにその第一歩を朝子の息子に戀をすることで始めさとは神ならぬ身の知るよしもなかった。幸か不幸かここにおいて朝子の反逆の野望は忽ち粉砕けになったのだ。

「春生、ヒロエさんはあれ以來、見える？ クラブに……」

日曜日の朝、春生と二人きりのときを見すまして、朝子は思いきっていってみた。あれ以來、ヒロエからは電話がかかって來ない。こちらからかけてもいつも留守だ。

「ああ、來てるよ。毎日」

春生はけろりと答えた。

「なんですって、毎晩だって！ ご主人もいるのに……」

春生は默って新聞を讀んでいる。

「ヒロエさんもどうかしているわねえ。高いお金使って何が樂しくてあんな所へ行くのかしら」（とこの頃ではすっかり忘れている）

「国井のおばさんはぼくのこと好きなんだよ」

春生はズバリといって、相變らず新聞に目を落としている。

「まあ……ヒロエさんはそんなことを春生にいったの？」

「いわなくたってそれくらいわかるさ」

春生は面白くもないといった顔で新聞を投げ出すと大アクビをしながらいった。

「あのおばさん、浮氣をしたいんだってね。男が浮氣する限り、女にだってその權利はあるって、大演說をぶったよ」

「浮氣」

朝子は春生の顔を穴のあくほど見つめた。

「ヒロエさんは あなたを……あの、ナニしたの！」

「ナニって何だい」

「つまり誘ったの？ つまり、あのナニよ」

「ぼくをくどいたかっての？」

春生は明快にいった。

「おばさんと踊りにドライブしたのさ。鎌倉まで飛ばしたんだ。おばさんがいきなり泣いたのには驚いたな。あの圖体で」

「なんですって！ ヒロエさんが泣いた？ まあー なぜなの？」

「車止めて海見てたら、いきなり泣き出したんだ」

春生は立ち上り、もう一度大アクビをしていった。

「抱いてほしかったんじゃないかい」

そういって春生は二階へ上って行ってしまった。朝子は思わず大きな溜息をついた。そんな息子が頼もしいのやら、頼もしくないのやら、朝子にはさっぱりわけがわからないのである。

ソ連最初の外人監督
黒澤明が映画製作へ
＝滞在一年間通譯付きで＝

【モスクワ】『羅生門』の監督として世界的に知られている映畫監督、黒澤明氏は先週、ソ連極東の小町に向けて出發、一年間がかりでソ連映畫を制作することになつた。黒澤の第二十六映畫であり、外人の監督下によるソ連最初の映畫である。

この町はクラジオストックから約百二十マイル奥地にあり、ウスリ荒原からトラ、クマ、シカなどを集めてシーンに使うことになつている。

健康談義

カルシウムの大切さ

梅月生

大浦孝秋氏が説く
無病長生の道（二）

カルシウムなしに農業はできない。土が酸性になったら作物は育たないからである。そこで灰をまいたり石灰やカルシウムをまく。

人間のからだも、砂糖や肉を食べすぎると血液が酸性になる。酸は酸毒といって毒だから、これが多くなると死ぬ。その助け役がカルシウムだ。アルカリ性のカルシウムが酸性を中和してくれる。酸性の場合、脳細胞の中からカルシウムが脱けていつて脳神経が昂奮し、イライラするようになる。その脳神経細胞の鎮静剤の役割をするのがカルシウムだが、これが足りないと昂奮状態を起し、ちよつとの刺激にあつても感動がくる。

また酸毒は脳細胞をおかすばかりでなく、中和されないまま腎臓に送られて腎臓のアミの目をボロボロにする。腎臓病の人は酸性食物が多すぎるのである。

このごろはいろんなストレス、精神的な負担も加わってノイローゼがふえた。家庭の平和を守るためにも奥さんがノイローゼになってはいけない。台所を預かっているのだから先ず自分の健康を考えて、野菜や海藻類のアルカリ性食品を多く召し上がるとよい。肉や卵はお祭料理、お客様料理で、平素食うべきものではない。昔はそうであった。今の人間はゼイタクになって、あの世へ行くのを急いでいる。

ク州内の公用語 佛語だけの法案

使用言語の自由權を取り消す

〔クベック〕クベック州政府は近く州議会にクベック州内における公用語は佛語だけとする法案を上提することになつている。ボラッサ首相はその法案内容について語ることをさけているが、モントリオール・スター紙によると次の通り。

△ク州公用語はフランス語のみとする。法規の具体的適用について「言語局」を開設する。

△教育法を修正し、将来の非英語スピーキング移民の子供ｌ佛語學校通學を強要する。（これは主に歐州および東洋系移民の子供を指す）

△佛語をビジネス用語として使用または使用することに努力する会社だけに政府のカントラクトを優先的に與える。

なお全移民の子供たちは州内の英語學校に入學を許される以前に、英語カテストをうけ、失敗すれば佛語學校のみに通學を要求される。

二十一日に上提

〔クベック〕ク州言語法案は五月二十一日上提されるとボラッサ首相が今週發表した。佛語使用をク州内に奨勵する適切な法案であると同首相は述べている。しかし州内の佛語系父兄および教師は同法案に反對の聲をあげている。

何れ訪加したい

延期仕方ないと田中首相語る

〔東京時事〕キャンベル駐日カナダ大使は今週、田中首相を訪ね、ツルドー同國首相からの親書を手渡した。

親書の内容は①カナダ側の事情により、日加閣僚委が延期されたのは遺憾である。②今後、田中首相のカナダ訪問に期待している――など。

これに對し田中首相は、『閣僚委は両国の都合のよいときに開きたい』と述べるとともに、首相のカナダ訪問について『今後外交ルートを通じて話し合いたい』と答えた。

またこの席上、同大使は田中首相に一九七六年夏にモントリオールで開催されるオリンピックの記念銀貨（五ドル、十ドル各二種類計四枚、ワンセット）を贈つた。

今週から十セントも ガス一齊に値上がる

〔トロント〕カナダの三大石油会社は今週からガソリン一ギャロンにつき一〇セント値上げを行つた。オタワ政府がこの値上げを許可したものや、三社の値上げ幅は一ギャロンにつき一〇セントないし一〇・五セントとなつている。

したがつてレギュラー・ガソリンは六三ないし六四セントとなり、プレミアムは七〇セントと値上つた。他の有力會社も今週中ないしは来週早々、一ギャロンにつき九セントほど値上げすることになつている。石油會社にいわせると、この値上げは原油値の高騰、オタワのセールス・タキス、運賃費増加に對するもので収支どつこいどつこいでいけばよい方だと説明している。

オ州のディヴィス首相はガス九セント値上げは不當だとし、七セント以上の値上げは正當でないと述べている。ガス値上げをチェックするのは連邦政府が先手を打つて行なうべきものだとオ州首相は各州單獨では實現しそうにないと仄のめかした。

〔ボン〕シュミット西獨蔵相を首班とする連立内閣の組織が今週完了し信任式を總えた。シュミットは首相に選任された。西獨社会民主黨と自由民主黨の連立内閣だが、閣僚人事で多少のもつれがある。

新蔵相にはハンス・アペル（現外務省政務次官）が起用され、ゲンシャー外相（現内相）、マイフォファー内相、新顔は二、三名で残余はブラント内閣の顔ぶれである。

學生十六人が犠牲死

アラブ・ゲリラと交戦

塚本らのテロ釋放をねらう

〔テレアヴイヴ〕今週アラブ三人組ゲリラはレバノン國境近くのイスラエル町に侵入、町内の宗教學校で子供九十人を人質にし、入獄中のアラブ系奇襲隊二十名を釋放しなければ子供らを皆殺しにすると脅迫した。

〔イスラエル、マーロット〕國境町當地で約九十名の學生がアラブ・ゲリラ三名に人質となつていたが、十五日、十分間にわたる射撃と手投げ弾の爆發で、學生十六名とゲリラ三名が殺される結果となつた。

しかしこの間、ゲリラとイスラエル政府間の連絡がうまくつかず、仲介者も條件について完全了解に達していなかつたらしく人質皆殺しの最終時限が迫り、イスラエル軍人によるゲリラ襲撃となつた。このため人質となつていた學生十六名が殺され、七十名が負傷した。
